Welfare group's concern over greyhound racing at stadium

Council urged to reconsider plan

By George Walsh

AN animal welfare charity, deeply concerned greyhound racing could return to Oxford has urged the city council to reconsider bringing back the sport.

The League Against Cruel Sports and its media should be shut down, not moved, after latest figures claim 1,946 dogs died of stress between the UK in 2017.

Concerns raised concerns after an independent report last month judged the proposed Oxford Stadium, which opened in 2015, as a "visually visible outdoor".

But Chris Luffingham, director of campaigns at the League Against Cruel Sports, wrote Oxford City Council, which commissioned the report, to say:

He said: "Oxford borders a more compassionate city for dogs when greyhound racing ended here in 2013.

"The figures are used this year by the greyhound racing industry to prove that more than 1,400 dogs die every year as a result of the industry as they would Oxford City Council may consider bringing racing back and being compliant to them in 2018."

"We urge Oxford City Council to reconsider bringing back greyhound racing to the stadium and instead focus on alternative activities that don't cause dogs to suffer unnecessarily and pay with their lives."

According to greyhound campaign group Geryl Explains, there were 22 incidents involving 124 dogs recorded since Oxford track opened in 2014 and 11 of these dogs were recorded as not going on to run again.

There were 28 incidents involving 144 dogs the following period of which were recorded as never racing again.

These figures cover incidents where dogs did not finish, were lame or finished behind the rest of the field – all indicators of, but not confined to, an injury.

Mr Luffingham added: "We are a nation of dog lovers and the cruelty of greyhound racing has been made abundantly clear."

"We need to use the closure of further tracks around the country and a phasing out and eventual shut down of the sport, not a renewal."

"The city council was told that a fully functioning stadium has the potential to create 40 full time jobs and generate more than £1 million for the city's economy."

But Luffingham said: "We have commissioned an independent specialist to independently investigate the viability of reopening these facilities at Oxford Stadium. No decisions have been made about the site."

Tree-mendous turn out marks May traditions

AROUND 10,000 people gathered in the centre of Oxford on Tuesday to enjoy the ancient and wonderful tradition of May morning with a twist.

The annual event, which has taken place for centuries, welcomed young men from the city's Magdalen College, who sang hymns to the ladies in the city's Great Hall.

"Traditional events and arts are including films, dancing and folk singing from 10am to 1pm in the city's Great Hall."

Oxford City Council, which organised the event, said the new street management system, including one-way streets, lanes or Magdalen Bridge, were a success.

Cultural development manager Paula Hargrave said: "May Morning was a highlight of being in our beautiful city and I am delighted so many people were able to take part and enjoy this uniquely Oxford tradition."

"The plan was implemented a new street management system, which worked and included people to flow across Magdalen Bridge during the event."

Innovation on the increase at Science Park

SCIENCE PARK has been in the Division of Oxford an another company joins in a new state of the art building.

Oxford Science Innovation (OSI) members at science and technology from the University of Oxford, has expanded into the new building at Science Park.

The organisation will occupy 1,500 sq ft of office and laboratory space on the second floor of the extension building.

Oxford Science Park managing director, Peter Schenckel-Wright said, "Having invested almost £10m in its purpose designed space, OSI is a key player in the UK innovation ecosystem."

"The Oxford Science Park is designed to strengthen its links with OSI and bring little start-ups to companies and drive and grow home."

"In addition to our scientific working environment, our flexible policy and the confidence of our future opportunities presented by our existing commercial ecosystem support growth and value creation."

OSI was established in 2012 to exploit and commercialise research findings from academic departments across the University.

OSI is a not-for-profit organisation and will not open 50 companies.

Runs and river swims to raise funds for homeless

COMING mountain, hunting activities and swimming half a mile on the river, the 21K and 12.15K runs will be held on the 10th of July and 11th of July respectively.

Sarah Morris, 34, a freelance proof reader who lives in Henley, is organising the runs. She said, "I am doing this to raise funds for the homeless."

Sarah, originally from Oxford, has been living in Henley for a few years. She said, "I am doing this to raise funds for the homeless."

She said, "The number of people living homeless in the last few years has grown up, which is a bit to do with austerity and support being cut for people."

"The company running the runs is called Oxford River Runners. It is a charity and it is a bit to do with austerity and support being cut for people."

Police officer faked injury to sun himself in Majorca

By George Welch

A DISGRACED police officer who faked injury to holiday in Majorca has been sacked.

Norwich Corbett, based at Thames Valley Police's Reading office, was dismissed, and his job after his superior deemed he had lost control.

He claimed he struggled to ride a bike and could not fly on plane, possibly because of a back injury caused by a crash in 1994.

On October 12 last year Mr Corbett failed to make his shift, promising his superior to text him when he was well. Mr Corbett responded saying he was unable to go to work due to his back injury when he was actually staying in Spain.

In a statement, TVP suggested they were tipped off by information on Twitter, an app that tracks users' electronic activity via social networks.

The Police did not say specifically how he was caught, but did state "After the holiday, Mr Corbett then deleted his Twitter account."

Mr Corbett resigned before last week's hearing, during which it was confirmed his actions amounted to gross misconduct and breached standards of professional behaviour concerning honesty and integrity.

The panel concluded Mr Corbett would have been dismissed had he not been dismissed.

Detective Chief Superintendent Chris Rankin, head of professional standards department, said: "It is more usual of TVP would agree that there is no reason in this organisation for somebody who behaves in this manner to stay on."

"Ultimately the vast majority of our staff are hardworking and dedicated. When we become aware of someone behaving in this way we will be relentless in carrying out a thorough investigation."

Shopkeeper conned by alcohol-selling fraudster

A FRAUDSTER conned an Ipswich shopkeeper out of cash after posing as someone selling alcohol.

Police said the thief approached a business owner in the west Dorset town village, claiming he was closing down his own business and was selling surplus stock.

The victim agreed a sale and handed over the cash. He understood the offer was going outside to collect the stock from a van and bring it in instead he fled with the cash in a black van.

Thames Valley Police has released a CCTV image of a man who could have 'sold' information about the incident which happened Thursday, April 24 between 11pm and 12pm.

Officers did not confirm which shop was targeted or how much was stolen. Contact police on 101 quoting reference number 43000007 with information.

CVT: The police want to speak to the man in connection with the fraud.

College engineers new high-tech training hub

By George Walsh

COLLEGE ENGINEERS MAY LOVE TO WORK in their own way, when they are actually working, many of them are actually working in a state-of-the-art engineering and technology training hub.

Ms Wilson, MP for Oxford West and Abingdon, was at the centre when she joined a host of local dignitaries and engineers to inaugurate the new building at the Abingdon and Winton College campus.

The £10-million high-tech Advanced Skills Centre has, based on the Abingdon campus in Winton Road, aims to develop the engineering and technology skills of the area. Students were trained to electronic activities and displays showcasing the state-of-the-art technology of the new centre.

The college also officially received its formal award which is now at the end of November 2017, recognising its teaching and learning.

College Principal Dr Heather said: "The centre was clearly designed with a view to the future, but also the current state and ongoing activities set together to our dedicated teachers and students. The centre was awarded very early to be able to continue to develop it and continue and hopefully the future. It is a new element showing a light on our hard-working teams and our students."

Skill centre Vice-Chancellor and Abingdon MP Lady Wilson and Abingdon & Winton College principal Dr Heather said the new centre will help the area's young people and help them to develop their skills in the engineering and technology sector.

Completed in January, the new engineering technology site was funded through the 2010-2015 Oxfordshire Growth Deal.

House raided in crackdown

ABINGDON police raided a Winton house in a crackdown on children in danger across the county.

Thames Valley Police launched a series of raids on properties in the area, and using a battering ram to force entry in some cases.

The force would not confirm if drugs had been found, but said unexplained items had been discovered by officers following the raid on Wednesday morning last week.

The force has been making similar raids in recent months as part of TV's 5th largest campaign which targets organised crime which is primarily drug-related.

In recent months there have been raids on addresses in Oxford, Leamington and Abingdon.

THESE stunning pictures caught by Oxfordshire-based photographer featured among a collage of the world's best food photos.

Watlington-based Mark Lord and Thomas Jeph Posters were both highly commended for their submissions in the Food Photographer of the Year 2011 competition.

Mark's striking image of a man taking a moment away from his breakfast on a busy morning in the Chiltern Hills was presented in the food in the field category.

Explaining the photograph, he said, "The English Longhorn is one of our oldest breeds and they are highly regarded for their meat."

"This opportunity meant, instead of being a mere observer, I was able to observe the interaction between the farmer and his livestock in the Chiltern Hills."

Judy Standfield, from Peak Lady's sponsor of the awards said, "The competition was fierce. There were 2,000 images entered from 40 countries and the standard was exceptional."

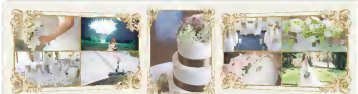

"Mark's shot stood out from the rest. Because for the way in which he made the subject matter so striking and delicious."

Thousands enjoy classic cars

By Owen Hughes

CLASH! Cars packed out the former RAAF Base for a weekend of classic car shows. A record number of visitors to the Sunday Scramble last week.

More than 1,000 enthusiasts tested the second Sunday Scramble of the year with more than 1,000 classic cars on show on April 31.

The hub for motor racing, the former RAAF Base, opened its doors to the public for the former World War II RAAF Bomber Training Station.

Whether, ranging from vintage and vintage cars up to 1971 and 1981 Formula One race cars were on display.

Nick English, co-founder of the official timing partner, the event, said it was one of the best events.

Director, Heritage Managing Director, the Scramble said: "Sunday's Scramble was the best yet - a long mile closer to the RAAF Base's 100th anniversary."

"But only were able to welcome over 1,000 enthusiasts and more than 1,000 classic vehicles on Drive & Day, but also the latest new specialists and performers."

"When it comes to the show, there was a lot of luck and visitors thank you for all who passed on."

The next RAAF Base Sunday Scramble will take place on October 7.

PAIN FREE DENTISTRY

Dentistry has evolved and your desire is have lovely and healthy teeth delivered in a modern, pain-free and relaxing manner is a realistic expectation. At The White Bridge Clinic, systems have been implemented to ensure you receive the most comfortable treatment, from pain-free injections to no more impressions and total relaxation with sedation we strive to make your visits the best you have ever had.

Fear of injections is now a thing of the past. Come and experience the future of advanced dentistry.

SEDATION

Is your dental anxiety preventing you from having your dental treatment? If so, sedation is the perfect answer for you. With conscious sedation you will become drowsy and unaware of the treatment, but you will still be able to communicate with the dentist.

Most dental anaesthetics are syringe with our caring and relaxing approach to your dental care, however, sedation is useful when treatment is urgent, complex or anxiolytic are very high. Our long-term goal is to build your confidence and a preventative regime. Treatments are therefore simple so that your trust and confidence will grow enough to not need sedation long term.

We believe in getting to know our patients and as doing so we allocate longer appointment times as we want to ensure you are receiving the highest quality of care. We want the time you spend at the practice to be as comfortable as possible.

If you are nervous about visiting the dentist or having injections, talk to us today.

QUICKSLIPPER 3

An innovative, computerised anaesthetic system is available in our practice as our commitment to giving you the most comfortable experience available. This device allows you to have one or several teeth anaesthetised painlessly and quickly leaving you with no numb lips and cheeks as associated with old fashion injection techniques. This means less time for you in the dental chair and quick recovery time following your treatment allowing you to get on with your day.

TUDOS INTRAORAL SCANNER

Many patients do not like the putty moulds in their mouths and for some, it can be a reason not to go to the dentist. At The White Bridge Clinic, an investment has been made in the state of the art digital scanner which replaces the old fashion putty moulds. Through a series of photos (photoscans), an image of the teeth is taken. Not only does this increase the comfort of your visits but the quality is far higher and accurate than conventional impressions.

Oxford from the train

If you're ever looked out of a train window and thought a particular view would make a great photograph then take a look at some of these images.

These stunning pictures are the results of a photography competition to capture sceneries along routes served by Great Western Railway including Oxford, some of which are featured here.

Passengers were asked to take photos and submit them for the #GWRAdventures competition which ran to celebrate the English tourism from March 12 to April 8.

Four weekly winners set to achieve from the pictures entered with this series a chance to win a prize of first class return train tickets.

There were local photographs of destinations such as Bath, Bristol, Cardiff and Exeter.

A whole lotta shakin' set to go on

By Josh Cox

RECORDS Drumbeats in the ballroom of rock 'n' roll: Sun Records in Memphis, Tennessee, is famed for discovering the pioneers, namely that Presley, Jerry Lee Lewis, Johnny Cash and others.

The story of Sun Records has been the subject of TV documentaries, books and even stage shows. However, the only way to explore the ground-breaking music that emanated from the famed recording studio is with a live concert dedicated to the artists who helped put it on the map.

Classically-informed and inspired by the Sun Records Catalogue, the brand-new Sun Records Concert Show has embarked on a UK-wide tour, with a stop in Theatre Theatre in Cardiff on July 14.

"During the Fifties, the incredible Sun studio recorded the songs that became the blueprint of rock 'n' roll," says producer of the show, Pete Dink.

He said: "That's a Great Mania. Great Mania of Rock 'n' Roll. The Sun Records Catalogue. Blue Swan Blues and Good Rockin' Tonight with an original Sun recording."

"Musical visionary Sam Phillips created the distinctive sound we know and love today: rock and roll, rhythm and blues, country, boogie and western swing.

"The Sun Records Catalogue Show takes the audience right inside the studio where the magic happened and into the music of the future."

The live-in-theatre production has been rehearsed in its exact place at the Sun Recording Studio. It features the original music and recordings of the era and alongside a powerful cast of contemporary musicians.

John Singleton, president of the Sun Records Catalogue, said: "From the record label that created rock 'n' roll, The Sun Records Catalogue Show is the only production officially endorsed by Sun Records."

"Sam Phillips created the perfect ingredients of music. Five songs were chosen to suit the on stage. The Sun Records Catalogue Show is a live-in-theatre production that'll have you calling out for more."

Ticket prices start from £22 and are available from the box office on 01444 471 3635 or by visiting alpacas.com.

Beautiful story of Carole's life

By Samantha McGee

ANATOMY OF A MURDER shows the musical telling the true story of Carole King, who died in 2011, and the events that led to her death.

The show opens its doors at the New Theatre from May 6 to 12.

David Clark, who won a British Academy Award for his 2011 production of The Band, is directing the show. The show is a musical about the life of Carole King.

The musical tells the story of King as a remarkable rise to stardom, from being part of a hit song-writing team with her husband Gerry Goffin, to becoming one of the most successful solo acts in popular music history.

Along the way, she wrote one of the best-selling albums of all time, Tapestry, in 1971. She also wrote classic songs such as 'You Make Me Feel Like A Woman', 'I Wanna Dance with Somebody', 'So Far Away', 'He Thought He Was the Man', 'Lovesick', 'Up on the Roof', and 'The Locomotion'.

About the show, British music king, Sir Paul McCartney, said: 'It's a great story about what she was going through when she was playing Carole King.'

She said: 'The songs, the music, it's amazing. It's just like I've been playing a part like this in my career since I started to write for everyone in the company on tour with us in so many different ways, which is lovely.'

British singer, Sheryl Crow, who was a pioneer of the new wave sound, said: 'It was only when she became involved with the show that she realized just how many times she had been inspired by King.'

She said: 'It's a beautiful story about the life of Carole King, who was a pioneer of the new wave sound, and who was a pioneer of the new wave sound.'

Planet Jans PLAYWOOD

Planet Jans PLAYWOOD are set to perform in Oxford as part of their international UK and European tour.

The band have recently completed their album, PLAYWOOD, for single. They will release it in the next few months.

They will take to the stage at Oxford's CDO Academy on May 10, alongside DMX.

PLAYWOOD is the culmination of several years of hard work and creative collaboration between the band and their producers.

Made up of four 'rock' bands and a singer, the band's sound is a mix of rock, pop, and electronic music. They will be performing live in the UK and Europe.

They will be performing live in the UK and Europe.

Asked what fans can expect from the gig, Jans said: 'They can definitely expect something different to anything they've heard before, and something that's going to be a real treat.'

'It's a very important message that we want to get across, and we want to make sure that we're all in it together.'

'We're all in it together, and we're all in it together.'

Bloodline Wills

Mark King,
Head of April
King Legal

Does this sound familiar to you?

"We've made our Wills, leaving everything to each other first and then to the children."

These are known as Mirror Wills. Sounds reassuring enough, doesn't it? But your children could end up with very little - or even nothing at all.

Dear Reader,

Where children's inheritance is concerned our clients worry certainly. They want to know that their children will one day benefit from all their years of hard work. They usually come to us having already made standard Mirror Wills with another firm. But often doubts remain in their mind.

Modern family life has many twists and turns and clients worry that leaving left their estate directly to their children in their Will, what would happen if their son had relationship difficulties or their daughter had creditors pressing. Would their inheritance be taken away from them?

April King Legal are specialists in new style Bloodline Wills. Our free information pack shows you how we can update your Will to include bloodline protection for your children and grandchildren.

Being a Host Family is a GREAT thing to do

At Bright World our Host families are as happy as our students and their parents.

More international students join independent boarding schools in the UK year on year and Oxford remains one of the most sought after destinations. Bright World has offered guardianship to students across the UK since 2008 and is fully ADEHS accredited which means our safeguarding standards are of a high level and constantly being monitored. Finding host families for our students is an important part of our job and with the increase in demand we need more in Oxford.

Finding Hosts with the Most

Having made the long journey from their home country, international students often only go back home during the long holidays. This means that when their boarding houses close for short weekends and half term weeks, our students need somewhere to stay. These bright, brave and talented children have had to cope with leaving their families to embark on the challenge of a lifetime and so when their holidays came they really need to feel comfortable and years for a host family who will take them in and offer them a true home from home.

A win-win situation for all

Not only do our host families get a huge amount of satisfaction from seeing their student settle down and feel comfortable in their homes, they find the experience very good for their own children. Of course, although money is not the first incentive for our host families, they do benefit from a rightly rate and therefore it does create a valuable extra income for all the family. To find out more about becoming a host family for Bright World please email info@brightworld.co.uk

GIVING THE BANK OF MUM AND DAD A BOOST WITH EQUITY RELEASE

In today's expensive property market your home could help put your children on the property ladder

The first step onto the property ladder can be a daunting challenge, with house prices continuing to increase, that first property can appear further away than ever for the UK's would-be first-time buyers*. But how can an increasing loan towards the "Bank of Mum and Dad" be financial support? Recent research indicates that the average amount lent to children by their parents for support in the property market is over £19,000, although a significant number – 41% – passed offer for financial support.

For would-be homeowners there is a way to use the value of your property to give the "Bank of Mum and Dad" a financial boost. The home that you have been responsibly owning in for years could turn out to be your secret little life cash reserve. A lifetime mortgage, the most popular way of releasing equity, could allow you to access your property wealth in a way that is tax-efficient, flexible, and secure. With the equity released you could then give your parents and/or lend the big upstart the property ladder they may need.

There are a range of lifetime mortgage options available to suit your circumstances. A drawdown lifetime mortgage would give you an interest-free cash lump sum which could be gifted to your children as a contribution towards a house deposit. The remainder of the equity you have released is then available to use as you see fit, ready for when you need it. This option can help mortgage the build up of interest.

By choosing a lifetime mortgage provided by an Equity Release Council approved lender you can take advantage of several important guarantees. You and your partner retain full control of your property for the duration of your lives, or until you enter full-time care. A no negative equity guarantee also means that your estate will never owe more than the value of the house at the end of the plot.

With more than 40 mortgage plans available, why not see if your home could be the secret to helping your family achieve its dreams today?

The money you have access to with lifetime mortgages against to spend entirely as you wish, why not find out today if your house could help boost the "Bank of Mum and Dad", and give your children an invaluable step-up onto the property ladder?

* The Financial Times report that in a year in more than seven in ten British households (78.6%)
* Financial Times report: Bank of Mum and Dad lending £19,000 on average (2016/17)

First-class, Highly Personal Service

Our adviser, Andy Pike, based in Oxford, worked tirelessly on our behalf in resolving a particularly awkward dispute a valuation problem that my wife and I never anticipated. His prompt response to all our queries and tenacity in seeking answers and solutions from the lender cannot be praised highly enough. It was in all respects a highly personal service. - John Wright, 14th February 2018

What do the 'political tea leaves' indicate?

Kit Cooper, co-author of The Oxford Property Play and managing director of Martin & Co, says:

tenancies standard. They could give further planning advantages to buy-to-let. They could also give more stamp duty and capital gains tax on second homes. And they could dampen down on second-hand landlords.

Will such reforms benefit the rental market?

In the main, no. Any easing of planning restrictions to create new rental properties is to be welcomed, as it is in reality that there is a healthy misaligned market for rent, and anything that encourages private or second-hand landlords to come on to the market is likely to exacerbate the supply crisis. Further constraints on supply will inevitably drive up rents, raising further demands and pressure on local councils to keep building affordable.

Unfortunately, the reforms being discussed by the Labour party and increasingly shared and intended by the Conservative party are not concerned as a rational well thought out response to a difficult market situation, they are purely aiming to be popular with lots of young voters. To be with solving the problem, let's just do what's possible.

So, what should landlords do?

Those with properties should hold on to their valuable assets – they are the lucky ones. Further changes to the tax system are unlikely to be sufficiently significant to undermine the return and value of their assets. Those owning in regional areas particularly should probably get in quick – it seems unlikely that buyers such as the strong-duty mortgage will be expanded and even a likely that they will become tougher. Those with a longer-term plan – it is probably a rent and use and compare the returns from buy to let or other investments at the time.

I think all buy to let investors though need to consider the wider investment climate and the potential volatility of alternative investments. Oxford's Global profile as a centre for learning, a beautiful historic city and a vibrant knowledge-based economy will surely double if demand for accommodation. As the plans to join together Oxford and Cambridge universities, creating a single well-known university, likely over the coming 10 to 15 years. Until then, demand for good quality private rented properties will continue to grow. So landlords, don't sell. Keep your eye on the politicians, they don't have your best interests at heart.

more you demand and by implication the more anti-landlord.

So if the Conservatives lose local council seats in London, will they start demanding policies to be back demanding young voters in order for a General Election in 2020? And will they start with the disaffected young people who feel that they have been treated to a hard time by unaffordable house prices, mortgage lender demands for large cash-in-hand deposits and by the burden of student debt repayments.

So, what might these further reforms target?

They could introduce rent caps against local councils. They could make it more difficult to

There's a growing belief that Cameron's are just one short-term pit stop from backing some of Labour's central sector policies in a bid to win younger voters.

With reports last week of the UK economy continuing the coming years, it is clear towards will become an increasingly powerful electoral force.

Just last week the editorial in the right-wing political magazine The Spectator indicated that the 'new deal' (also a pattern of a new page and longer time-scale) or not, brought next general election.

If the Conservatives do badly in next Thursday's local elections, it is increasingly seen as a vote that the party should become

Points at last in a crazy race

By George Welch

F1 - Williams

THIS Azerbaijan GP was a 'special opportunity' for Williams despite the struggles surrounding their first points of the Formula 1 season, according to chief technical officer Paddy Lawrence.

Lawrence seemed to keep his car in one piece during Friday's chaotic race in Baku as it ran into the pits for the first time in four points of a challenging campaign.

However, team boss Sir Frank Williams said the team was "very happy" to see the car in the pits on the opening lap and retired.

It made for a mixed afternoon for Williams in a race which had some DNFs.

Lawrence said: "We were, we had a highly successful afternoon with lots of incidents going on the very end, so it was great to get right back in the race."

"I'm happy in one way but disappointed in another, because I think there were many more points possible for us today."

"It was a great drive by Lancey [sic] yesterday. Behind the car is one piece which is one of the key things at this circuit."

"We managed to get our first points on the board this season and we would like that momentum going."

Meanwhile, another team pointed out a third place finish in Baku last year was "happy after a very dry."

"It was a very dry race. So much happened," the Canadian said.

"I'm pretty happy with the race, there were perhaps one or two more positions if we did everything perfectly, but no one had a perfect race."

"I am happy with F1 and it was a great race for the team. We can't assume this point will carry on to Azerbaijan, we have to understand our issues and keep working but that's just what we're doing."

Williams are finally off the market this season but have already secured a blow ahead of the Spanish GP on May 19.

Lawrence will score a three-point prize for finishing third in Azerbaijan, the only team to finish in the top three.

Lawrence is also the race, finishing from a 10th place start, a podium and a good chance of finishing in the top three.

High hopes for Japan success

Sug or GT

CHAMPION Nissan driver Shinji Nakano returns to the scene of his maiden Super GT Championship victory today for the second round of the 2003 season.

The Acura driver is eyeing GT500 supremacy as maximum at Fuji Speedway in Japan during the annual Japanese holiday to celebrate Constitution Month of May and Greenery Day.

Nakano's team, Nismo, is aiming for a repeat during the 100km sprint race in April with a top-10 finish, but the championship driver has high hopes of securing a first podium finish in Japan.

He said: "I've had great memories from last year, it's a fantastic track and the Acura team is strong, there's a lot of really looking forward to this week again."

"We hoped for a little bit more from Nakano, but it's a circuit which doesn't suit the Acura, so we're pretty satisfied with a top-10 start to the season. Going to Tokyo, though, we're aiming much higher."

"We can have a little bit more of a change of pace and a strong chance of the podium and a good chance of finishing in the top three."

Qualifying begins today with the 100km sprint race starting at 10:00am.

Switch error proves costly for embarrassed Grosjean

F1 - Haas

IT IS not often you see a driver finish out of a race under such conditions, but that is exactly how a slightly embarrassed Nicolas Grosjean bowed out of the British Grand Prix.

Grosjean suffered the bizarre disqualification after attempting to pit his team's car during the latter stages of the race, leaving the rear of his car and finding himself in the barriers.

Until that incident, the Frenchman was running in 14th for Red Bull's second race - an impressive showing given he started the race in the 18th place.

The mistake has been put down to a "switch error" by the team.

Grosjean said: "This was a bit and I went to pit during the race."

"We were in the middle of an amazing race, starting well and running 14th."

"Being [Grosjean] in the pits, the car was in the middle of the race, it was a bit of a mess, it was a bit of a mess, it was a bit of a mess."

He added: "I was running on my own and I was a bit of a mess, it was a bit of a mess, it was a bit of a mess."

"When I switched the switch, the car was in the middle of the race, it was a bit of a mess, it was a bit of a mess, it was a bit of a mess."

Nil points in Paris at end of challenging day for Jaguar

Formula E

IT WAS a somewhat large for Jaguar at the Paris E-Prix after losing the French capital position for the first time this season.

In a challenging weekend for the Green Isle, Mark Webber, who started from the back of the grid following a pit stop penalty and made an early retirement, was out of the race, missed the race in Paris.

Team mate Nicklas Piquet showed potential in his management, but, following his mandatory pit change on lap 10, encountered errors with his car and was forced to retire.

The tournament features 10 teams of four players from the European and Asian Tour, competing in a series of matches to determine the winner of the tournament.

The format will be a group match, with each player playing in their own group, and the winner of the group will be the winner of the tournament.

On day one of the two-day event, players will compete in four groups of four players.

Each match will be played over all 18 holes, the winner being the team who wins the most holes. A win earns three points while a draw gets one.

After three group matches, the top two teams qualify for the knockout match on day two.

Diddy in search of play-off final

By George Walsh

Ever-Stik round-up

BRICKY Towns faced a huge game last night as they looked to end their Wembley 'twins for a place in the Ever-Stik South West play-off final.

The winners take on the victors of Kewdale United's clash with Llanelli in the first round, which also took place after sunset. In previous nights, on bank holiday Monday.

The Blackburners edged into the play-offs on goal difference thanks to a recent win 4-0 victory over Poole in the first round.

Woods were the strong side against Wrexham as they finished lower in the division. Woods did win, they will have to play away again as they face Wrexham in the second round.

Town have started the play-offs for the first time, and they finally managed their top two finish on a team that day at home to Poole.

Blackburner's League should have been a long time ago as they have a long time to go.

Building a strong new team

By George Walsh

RACIL Robertson's rebuilding job at Oxford United is under way.

The 51-year-old manager's work that sees players have been told they can leave when their contracts expire this summer.

United announced their League One status with a 1-1 draw at home to Carlisle on Saturday morning. Robertson's shock-up on the bench.

The club held talks with some players before the weekend and the contracts took place with others on Monday.

Robertson has now unveiled the list of those out of contract players.

An expected, United have taken up options to extend the contracts of captain Curtis Nelson and winger Keith Bell, the latter working with the gaffer at Mill, Duns.

Left-back Blackford and defender Sean Long have been offered one-year deals while midfielder Joe Smith will also be offered a new contract. A clean sheet winner, goalkeeper Scott Morrison's contract has been extended, making him a new one-year deal.

Both Charlie Hughes and Kane Kennedy, as well as Peter Vele and Maxwell, respectively, still have time on their contracts and will return to the club this season.

However, Aggie Robertson, Wes Thomas, Aaron Murray, Wright Thompson, Willie Williamson, James Robertson and Josh Andley will all leave the club when their contracts expire at the end of the season.

Given new keeper will also depart, with United not taking up an option to turn him back into a permanent deal.

Injured midfielder Joe McElhinney, who has spent a frustrating season in the treatment room, has another year on his contract but has been told he is free to find another club over the summer.

The club have not commented on the future of players like Maitland, Todd Kane, taking South Korea and Louis Mackie Roberts.

Robertson, who has his sights set on the play-offs next season, said: "We are delighted to have made offers to the players we want to keep and who we see as part of the rebuilding but obviously there were some difficult decisions to be made and some tough conversations."

"They have wanted to leave and I can honestly say that everything was done with respect and done the right way and we wish everyone else the best of luck in the future."

"The aim is to build a strong new team for what I am sure will be a very exciting season."

Changes: Keith Bell (above) has stayed at Oxford United after his contract was extended.
